

DENISE HILL

MOTIVATIONAL SPEAKER
RADIO PERSONALITY
FEMALE ENTREPRENEUR

As one of inspiration's most recognizable voices, Denise Hill is a highly-sought-after resource in media, education, and activist circles for creative, engaging, and effective spoken, theatric, and workshop presentations. Not just entertainment but INNERtainment, Denise delves deep to address individual, cultural and national challenges while celebrating triumphs. She provokes thought, compels dialogue, and most importantly, fosters change.

As a programmer, voice talent and consultant, Denise has helped establish and grow the inspiration format for Radio One, XM Satellite Radio, and Inner City Broadcasting. As an actress, she has traveled the world, guiding those traumatized by abuse, addiction, and hurt toward emotional and spiritual healing through her monologues and one-woman play, "A Woman and Her Well." As an author and co-founder of the popular blog SexyMomsRock.com, Denise pulls from personal experiences like divorce, single-parenthood, depression, business success and more, to help mothers and women, in general, live full, complete, and purpose-filled lives.

As an educator, Denise Hill has served in the nation's top higher education institutions, trade schools, and community programs, instructing communication and speech courses as well as teaching, facilitating professional development sessions, and building curriculum for ABE programs. Denise promotes her C.E.O. Model of Success - Choices, Education, & Opportunities." Supporting others in their life-long goals and inspiring people to reach their divine purpose is not a vocation for Denise, but a passion and personal calling.
